Eli Dagenias Fined for Violating Liquor Laws, Takes an Appeal—Temperance Workers Elated—Social and Personal Items.

Two hundred dollars in fines, sixty days in jail and payment of the costs of the prosecution, make up the total of penalties imposed upon Eli Dagenias by Judge Harry E. Back in the town court Monday morning, when the cases growing out of the raid of a week ago Saturday and Dagenias' previous reputation in connection with the illegal sale of liquor, came up for trial. This is the first jail sentence given for violation of the liquor laws in this town for a number of years, and its infliction caused something of a sensation.

Prosecuting Attorney Arthur G. Bill represented the state in the action. Attorney Donald G. Perkins of Norwich appeared for the defendant.

The court room was crowded when the case was called at 9 o'clock. About 20 witnesses for the state were present. The majority of these had been summoned in to testify as to the knowledge of the reputation borne by Dagenias' place in the Evans block relative to the illegal sale of liquor. Without exception these witnesses testified that this place had such a reputation.

The examinations by the attorneys were in most instances very brief. The information given before the court also included descriptions of the interior of the near-famous basement, which was characterized by one witness as "like a crystal maze; easy to get in, but hard to get out."

Two Charges.

The charges alleged against Dagenias in the complaint were keeping with intent to sell and reputation of so doing. The grounds for these charges were fully covered by the state's witnesses, including two of the officers who were engaged in the search of Dagenias' place on Saturday, November 5, when a half-pint bottle containing whiskey was taken by Deputy Sheriff Michael Grisham from the person of the defendant.

While no actual sale was alleged against Dagenias, Frank St. Sauver testified that he had bought whiskey at the place in the Evans block on two different occasions during the past few weeks; at one time a half-pint and at another time a pint. Harbison Oullette also testified to having purchased whiskey there as long ago as last January. Mrs. Margaret L. Clark added that she had had a half-pint of whiskey delivered to her on a day in August near the Keystone block.

Next door to the Evans block, but that she did not know the name of the man that she gave the money to, to buy the liquor nor where he bought it. What was more, she said that the evidence remains to be seen. It did not apply in the findings in Monday's action. It did, however, create a distinct surprise, not that such a circumstance was incredible as much as by reason of the ease with which it was elicited.

No Defense Entered.

The case was allowed to rest at the conclusion of the testimony, and the defense put in no evidence. Attorney Perkins made the suggestion that if a penalty were to be inflicted by the court that he thought the ends of justice would be met and the intent of the law enforced if such penalty was made to serve as an example, as they merged into each other. Attorney Bill, however, claimed that the law was a separate and distinct and that the public had waited so patiently (with reference to Dagenias' appearance in court on charges of violation of the liquor law) that he thought no leniency should be shown him.

Public Not Blameless.

In his remarks before passing on the case Judge Back said that the second last time that Dagenias was in court on a similar charge it was distinctly agreed that he should be given a fine and a suspended sentence. He said that the public had waited so patiently (with reference to Dagenias' appearance in court on charges of violation of the liquor law) that he thought no leniency should be shown him.

The Penalties.

On the first count (reputation) the fine imposed by the court was $100. On the second count (keeping with intent to sell; also second conviction), the defendant was assessed another $100 and sentenced to serve sixty days in jail, and in addition to pay the costs of the prosecution.

Dagenias, through his attorney, took an appeal to the superior court. His bond fixed at $500, was gone on by S. P. Humphrey.

Temperance Workers Triumphant.

The temperance workers were elated over the findings of the court, as they have been at Dagenias' for the past two years. This time the evidence presented was exceedingly strong. Evidently the war against the blind figure or horse head logo is blind is to be a real war in Killbuck this no-license year. The indications are that there is to be much opportunity for criticism as might have been heard by those who listened closely last year.

A Misunderstanding.
